

THE COMMONWEALTH.

FRANKFORT.
THOMAS M. GREEN, Editor.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 15, 1858.

The absence of the Editor will account for the scarcity of editorial matter in to-day's issue.

Church Dedication.

The new building of the Methodist Church in Frankfort, will be dedicated on the next Sabbath, 19th inst., at 11 o'clock, A. M.

Rev. Dr. PARSONS will preach on the occasion. The public are respectfully invited.

THE LEXINGTON FAIR commenced on yesterday, and will continue until Friday evening.

ORDER OF EXHIBITION.

On yesterday, (the first day,) Domestic Manufactures, Agricultural implements, carriages, buggies, harness, agricultural products, &c., were exhibited.

2d Day--To-day, cattle, sheep, and hogs.

3d Day--Thursday, blooded horses, mules and jack stock.

4th Day--Friday, saddle and harness horses, &c. A special train of cars will leave Frankfort every day of the fair, at 20 minutes after seven, A. M., and arrive at Lexington at 9 A. M. Returning, leaves Lexington at the evening at 40 minutes past 4 o'clock, reaching here at 6 o'clock and twenty minutes, so that all who wish to attend the fair can go up and return each day for about the same that it would cost to remain in Lexington during the fair.

Messrs. OLIVER, DITSON, & Co., music publishers of Boston have sent us a new song entitled "The Spirit Messengers," dedicated to Miss Lelia V. Howard. The music is by F. B. Huber, and the words by a Kentucky Poet. We are not judge of music but learn from others that this is a very sweet song. Messrs. D. & Co., will accept our thanks for it.

ARTHUR'S HOME MAGAZINE.--This excellent monthly for October, is on our table. We think it is one of the best literary publications which we receive. It does not give as large a number of pages as some of the other Magazines, but the quality of the articles is very superior, particularly as to their moral tone; and it is a cheaper magazine than most of the monthlies. We can safely recommend ARTHUR to our friends, particularly to those who have children who are fond of reading.

We are indebted to Messrs. D. P. FAULDS & Co., of Louisville for a copy of "The Crab Orchard Quadrilles" arranged by R. Strauss. These quadrilles are well known to those who have heard Strauss' Band; they are inscribed to Miss Mildred Ewing, of Louisville, one of the fairest Belles of the Falls city, and Miss Carrie Hodges, of Frankfort, one of our sweetest young lady friends. Messrs. F. & Co., will accept our thanks.

FAMILY SEWING MACHINES.--A good Sewing Machine at a low price has long been a desideratum, and is now attained in the Nettleton & Raymond Patent. This is a two thread Machine of remarkably simple construction, and does the same work as the best $100 Machines. Any one of ordinary comprehension can understand and learn to use it successfully in a few hours practice. The stitch is the best made by Machinery, and is superior to the best hand sewing. It is very elastic, and therefore not liable to break by any strain in washing or otherwise. The sewing will not rip, though every fourth be cut.

The Machine runs thread, (cotton, silk, or linen,) from common spools, and finishes its own seam, no "fastening off" being necessary as in most other Machine sewing.

Price of Machine and table, complete, $30, and can be seen at Mr. Clarke's Ambrotype Gallery, adjoining the Telegraph office.

From the Kentucky Farmer.

Railroad and Agricultural Societies.
A sense of reciprocal dependence and mutual interest should cause these two institutions to be the most friendly collaborators at all times.

The farmer alone creates new products, the mechanic only changes them. If the farmer is unsuccessful and produces nothing, the merchant has nothing to exchange, and of course the Railroad has little or nothing to transport.

The object of Agricultural Societies is to stimulate and increase production, and to promote the sale and dissemination of the products, whether vegetable, animal, or cereal.

All testimony concurs that their object is most successfully accomplished. Their influence is most extensive and most salutary almost without qualification.

While the Societies thus create an immense business for Railroads, it is the obvious duty as well as the interest of Railroads to co-operate with, and to help to promote them.

The Society is but a contribution by the farmer, chiefly of his time and money, for the general welfare, in which the merchant and the railroad participate. It is the duty therefore of the railroad to aid in promoting this general welfare.

It has been supposed that it is the policy of the railroad to neglect this duty, and leave the labor and expense of getting up Agricultural Fairs to be borne by the farmers themselves. But this is a mistaken view, and a short sighted policy, for there is no limit to the success of the farmers in production and the Fair will be great, just in proportion to the means which are used to aggrandize it.

If the railroad can make $500, out of a Fair which is gotten up and sustained by the farmers alone, the railroad might also make five thousand dollars by a liberal co-operation with the farmers.

The poverty of the railroad constitutes no good reason for a contrary course, for the more needy it is the more enterprising it should be in the development of all its resources.

If our Kentucky railroads have not taken this view of this subject, and have not acted upon it, we are persuaded it is for the want only of more careful investigation, and more ample experience in the matter. For the purpose of inviting their more careful investigation, and their more liberal and wiser policy, we make the following extract from a recent circular of the Corresponding Secretary of the Illinois State Agricultural Society, so that they may see what is the action on this subject of those more enterprising, and more experienced railroads in that State.

Nor are the railroads in Illinois singular in this respect. The Evansville Indiana railroad, carried passengers to and from the Kentucky State Fair last fall at half fare, and published and distributed at the expense of the railroad, a poster bill announcing the Fair, &c.

This was much more than any railroad in Kentucky did in behalf of the State Fairs of Kentucky, which indeed was somewhat remote from them.

This liberal course has been the settled policy of railroads in Ohio, New York, and other States for many years; and the sooner it is also adopted by the railroads in Kentucky, the better for them.

We have seen a pack of complimentary cards by which the Corresponding Secretary of the Ohio State Agricultural Society could travel free over almost all of the principal railroads of the United States. We were ashamed to see that he had no card from a Kentucky railroad.

It affords us pleasure to say that the Lexington and Louisville railroad has taken the lead in Kentucky in a more liberal and wiser policy on this subject.

"The Railroad Companies have given good evidence of their interest in the Fair, by a liberal subscription in money, and the free transportation of lumber and all other materials necessary in fitting up the grounds for the Fair. The Illinois Central Company have also engaged to furnish any number of cars that may be required for sleeping accommodations. They will have on the ground for that purpose two miles and a half of cars on the side track. They will give, for the same purpose, the upper stories of their extensive machine factories, together with the station houses at Odessa and Tont.

"With unexampled liberality for the convenience of guests, the Illinois Central will run free trains, night and morning, during the Fair from the Fair grounds to Jonesboro, and from the Fair grounds to Decatur, one hundred miles in each direction, that the towns on the line may have an opportunity to contribute their aid in accommodating visitors."

AN ALL WIND THAT BLOWS NO GOOD.--As the Mississippi river recedes the overgrown lands show heavy accretions of soil, of irregular thickness, according to position, the thickest being made in eddies, or where the water has been stagnant. To many planters this will be a rich compensation for the loss of crops by the overflow. In several cases there are large additions to the cultivatable soil by the filling up of the swamp lands. In one case the refilling of the waters has assured to one planter a rise of three to five feet from this alluvial sediment, upon his back lands, adding fifteen hundred acres of the best soil to his plantation. Two, three, and five hundred acres are mentioned as common accretions from this source.

"WITH A WILL."--We often hear of things done "with a will." The phrase is expressive of all that is conveyed by the words purpose, determination, resolution. It is a very characteristic expression, as the lives of its utterers, on all occasions of interest, are pretty sure to evince. It shows that they are in earnest in everything they undertake to do, and hence do it "with a will."

It is characteristic of that, indicated by the expressive phrase above quoted, that it is our desire to hold up to the admiration of the younger readers of the Ledger, and we always do so "with a will," as we need not assure them. It has been said with great point, that the great difference between men--between the feeble and the powerful, the great and the insignificant, is entirely--invincible determination. He who has this in his composition will certainly realize the truth of the maxim, "where there is a will there is a way," for he shall make the way with the very force of his will!

About the class of people who do whatsoever their hands find to do, with all their might--that is, "with a will," there is a moral nobility which it does our very soul good to contemplate!

Items by Telegraph.

New York, September 13.

The steamship Vanderbilt from Havre and Southampton, with dates to the 1st, arrived late last night.

Queen Victoria and Prince Albert have returned to England from their visit to Prussia. Nearly a million and a half of gold is on the way from Australia.

Advices from India state that Gen. Grant had left Lucknow to relieve Maunsegh and to capture Fuzbad.

The diplomatic agents of the allies are to be allowed to reside temporarily in Peking.

A Chinese envoy is to visit Paris.

New York, September 13.

The Vanderbilt brings 235 passengers. Twelve vessels have been wrecked on the English coast. With one exception, the crews were all saved.

Mr. Morphy, the American chess player, played eight games blindfolded, at the same time, before the Birmingham chess contest, winning all but one.

Rudolph, Jung & Co., of Paris, in the silk trade, have failed. The liabilities are very large.

The Turkish Ministry has resigned. A new one is formed.

Great hopes are entertained that a treaty of commerce will be effected with China. The Jesuits, it is said, will obtain exclusive authority to establish a branch of their order in China.

Prussia has addressed a note to Vienna on the Austrian occupation of Rustadt.

The Raja Pootia rebels fled, after plundering Yauk, and were pursued by Gen. Roberts. The Swahili rebels are menacing Bechoere and Bughere.

New York, Sept. 13.

The steamship Star of the West, from Aspinwall, with California dates to the 20th ult., arrived at midnight. She has nearly one million seven hundred thousand dollars in treasure.

General news rather unimportant. Financial matters report as beyond anything previously known in the history of California. Collections are highly satisfactory and money has gone begging at 1 to 1 1/4 per cent. on merchandise from the Isthmus.

Col. Canby had made an attempt to seize Punta Arenas in the name of Costa Rica. He was opposed by the British Consul at Greytown, and the British naval officers who propose annexing it to the Mosquito possessions. This, if carried out, will lead to further complications between England and the United States.

Col. Canby had left Punta Arenas for Aspinwall.

New York, Sept. 13.

The Steamer Daniel Webster has arrived from Havana, with dates to the 8th, and $100,000 in specie.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 13.

The anniversary of the battle of North Point, which occurred yesterday, was celebrated to day by a general holiday. The principal feature of the day was the removal of the remains of Wells and McComas, who lost their lives during the battle at North Point, to the spot selected in the city, where a monument is to be erected. A large procession, embracing the military and civil authorities, escorted the remains. Salutes were fired, the stores were closed along the route, and flags were displayed appropriately draped with flags.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 13.--This afternoon, the representatives of the principal railroads and of the press of this city, enjoyed a pleasant ride on the Pennsylvania Central Railroad, in the new coach and seat cars invented by Mr. Woodruff, of Illinois. These cars which have been used on many of the western railroads, for the past year, will doubtless soon be introduced on the roads in this part of the country.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.--The bank statement for the week shows a decrease of loans of $73,000, of deposits $451,000, of undrawn deposits $1,052,000; increase of specie $11,000, of circulation $2,300.

SANDUSKY, Sept. 13.--The city is full of strangers, and the atmosphere of the fair are complete. The cosmopolitan art association pictures are all on the ground, on exhibition, gratis, to the public. The number of entries already made is 2000, and the fair will be the finest ever held in Ohio. The finest exhibition of horses ever made in Ohio is expected. Ample arrangements are made for the guests.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.--Judge Bowlin, our Minister to Paraguay, arrived in the city this morning, and a short time thereafter had an interview with Gen. Cass, at the State Department.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 13.--Deaths from fever on Saturday, seventy; during the week 470.

LEXINGTON, Sept. 13.--Jack Gamble won the race this afternoon.

A FEARFUL RUNAWAY AT THE CONNERSVILLE FAIR.--On Wednesday night, about half past nine, while the crowd was returning from the exhibition of fire works at the County Fair, at Connorsville, a frightened horse created one of the most fearful panics we ever witnessed. It was very dark, so dark, that it was impossible to see any object more than a few yards away.

The street was crowded with carriages, and the sidewalks filled with a most compact procession of pedestrians. There must have been fully a thousand people along the walk, and they were jammed so closely together that it was impossible to move fast, or to get clear of the crowd, without going into the street, or climbing an adjacent fence.

In this state of affairs a horse attached to a "sulky" got scared, it is said, by a collision with an omnibus, and ran away. Trying in his fright to avoid the carriages in the street, he dashed into the crowd upon the sidewalk, and with the sulky whirling and leaping far up from the ground at every jump, for more than a hundred yards, right through that dense mass of men and women. We heard the screaming when the horse first struck the walk in the rear of our position in the crowd, and thought it only the usual fuss of a holiday; but the scream came nearer and nearer, grew more fearful each moment, till we heard the rushing of a horse against the tree boxes and the rushing of people to either hand, mixed with the shrieks, right behind us, when, understanding the alarm, and thinking there might be some danger, we sprang to a fence, and just reached it as the horse dashed by, throwing down several persons who had been walking immediately in front of us.

For a moment there was a confusion of dust, of figures in white dresses whirling about as if in a tornado, of men scuffling about on the ground, and the whole enveloped in a tempest of screaming that made any inquiry as to the extent of the injury dose impossible. A little boy lay on the walk close by us, whom we took up, and found motionless and senseless. We thought him dead. His face was covered with blood and dust. His father, or some one who thought it was his child, took him away to a doctor. Just ahead a lady had been fearfully injured. She was carried up in a litter, and the confusion cleared away. There was enough to allow us to learn that five persons had been severely injured by the accident, and one or two it was thought might die. They were: Miss Shaw, of Laurel; a daughter of Mr. Freyberger, of Connorsville; a son of Mr. Houston, and two others whose names we did not learn. Miss Shaw was said yesterday morning to be in a critical condition, but the rest were considered out of danger.--Indianapolis Journal.

LEAKS SIMPLY STOPPED.--The Lynn News says: "Some years ago I had a leaking 'L.' Every northeast storm drove its waters in. I made a compound of four pounds of resin, one pint linseed oil, and one ounce red lead, applied it hot with a brush to the part where the 'L' joined the main house. It has never leaked since. I then recommended the composition to my neighbor, who had a Lutheran window which leaked badly. He applied it, and the leak stopped. I made my water-tight by this composition, and have recommended it for chimneys, windows, etc., and it has always proved a cure for a leak."

A Colored Discourse.

A correspondent of the "Knickerbocker" who writes from Mansfield, Ohio, sends us the following "discourse," for the entire authority of which he vouches without reserve, having taken it down from the thick lips of the reverend orator himself.

"My text, brethren and sister, will be found in the first chapter of Genesis, and twenty seventh verse.

"And de Lord make Adam." I tote you how he make him. He make him out of clay, and when he get dri, he breathe into him de bress of life. He put him in de garden ob Eden, and he set him in de corner ob de lot, and he tote him to eat all de apples, 'ceptin' dem in de middle ob de orchard; dem he want for de winter apples.

"Bime by, Adam he be lonesum. So de Lor' make Eve. I tote you how he make her. He gib Adam landum till he get soun asleep, dem he goude rib out de side and make Eve; an' he tote her to eat all de apples 'ceptin' dem in de middle ob de orchard; dem he want for de winter apples.

"Wun day de Lor' he go visitin'; de debble he cum along; he dress himself up in de skin of de snake, and he fine Eve, an' he tote her, 'Eve, why for you not eat de apples in de middle ob de orchard?' Eve says: 'Dem de Lor's winter apples.' But de debble says: 'I tote you for to eat dem, case dey's de best apples in de orchard.' So Eve eat de apple, and giv Adam a bite, and den de debble he go away.

"Bime by de Lor' cum home, and he call Adam. Adam he lay low, so de Lor' call again, 'You Adam?' Adam say, 'Hea Lor'!' and de Lor' say, 'Who stole de winter apples?' So de Lor' call: 'Eve!' Eve say, 'Hea, Lor'!' de Lor' again: 'You Eve!' Eve say, 'Hea, Lor'!' de Lor' say, 'Who stole de winter apples?' Eve tote him, 'Don't know--Adam, she 'spect.' So de Lor' coteh 'em boff, and trow em ober de fence, and he tote em, 'Go work for your libbin'."

WHY A DAILY PRAYER MEETING WAS ESTABLISHED AT SARATOGA.--Saratoga was suffering as a fashionable resort, until the expedient of establishing a daily prayer meeting was suggested. The correspondent of the Boston Journal says:

"The establishment of the daily prayer meeting has done wonders for this place. Hundreds of religious families are here, who would not have come this season had not the daily prayer meeting been set up, and each morning the audience are told, by men from the East, South, North and West, that the fact of a daily prayer meeting induced them to come and stay in this place."

THE SEASON AT SARATOGA.--The same correspondent says:

"It is not true that gaiety and fashion have received a check. Saratoga was never more gay, never more brilliant, never more fashionable, never more extravagant. Dresses that no man can number, brilliants that meet and dazzle the eye, equipages, liveried servants, coaches, establishments, appear on all sides. But as one of the good people remarked, 'The Devil does not have it all to himself this year.'"

A little girl, about five years of age, was equally fond of her mother and grandmother. On the birth-day of the latter, her mother said to her:

"My dear, you must pray to God to bless your grandmother, and that she may live to be very old."

The child looked with surprise at her mother, who perceiving it, said:

"Well, why you not pray to God to bless your grandmother, and that she may live to become very old?"

"Ah, mamma!" said the child, "she is very old already, I would rather pray that she may become young."

Rheumatism Cured!

Not less than about twenty thousand cases, of this painful and paralyzing disease, have already been cured by the use of Dr. Mortimore's celebrated remedy. These comprise cases of every seeming form of the disease, from those of a recent inflammatory (acute) character, to old Chronic cases of ten, twenty, and even thirty years standing, and this after the patients had long been given up as incurable by eminent physicians. Some had taken voyages at sea, spent years of residence in the most salubrious climates, visited the various "Water Cure" establishments, and celebrated Springs, both in this country and Europe, yet had still remained crippled, until they used this remedy, and by its use have been restored to health.

This is a vegetable--internal remedy, prepared and recommended for this one disease alone. This it cures, and is perfectly safe to be used in any state of health, even by the most delicate female or child.

Evidence of the highest possible character from physicians, clergymen and others, is published in behalf of this remedy, such as to give it character with every intelligent or reflecting mind. This evidence will be furnished to any address desired. The medicine is sold at $5 per bottle, five bottles for $20, or $40 per dozen, and will be sent by Express, or as directed, to any part of the Union. Apply to or address

COMMONWEALTH OF KENTUCKY.
Executive Department.
WHEREAS additional aggravating circumstances have been communicated to me in relation to the murders committed in the county of Rockcastle, by NOAH WIGGINS, ARCHIBALD HEALEY, and JAMES HEALEY.

Now, therefore, I, CHARLES S. MOREHEAD, Governor of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, by virtue of the power vested in me by law, do hereby increase the reward heretofore offered from One Hundred and Fifty Dollars to the sum of Five Hundred Dollars each, for the apprehension of said A. Healey, James Healey, and Noah Wiggins, and their delivery, or the delivery of either of them, to the jailer of Rockcastle county, within one year from the date hereof.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the Commonwealth to be hereunto affixed, this 17th day of Aug., A. D. 1858, and in the 6th year of the Commonwealth.

By the Governor: C. S. MOREHEAD.
Mason Brown, Secretary of State.
By T. P. A. Rine, Assistant Secretary.

DESCRIPTION.
Archibald Healey is about 25 or 27 years of age, but has the appearance of being much younger; 5 feet 10 or 11 inches high; rather dark skin, with very light hair, which inclines to curl, and wears it very long; weighs about 120 or 130 pounds; rather stooped shoulders; broad nose; rather small eyes; rather slow countenance, and his voice is rather feminine for a man of his appearance.

HOWARD ASSOCIATION,
PHILADELPHIA.

A Benevolent Institution, established by special endowment for the relief of the sick and distressed, afflicted with Venereal and Epidemic diseases.

It is a person afflicted with Venereal diseases, such as SYPHILIS, GONORRHOEA, GLEET, SYPHILIS, the Vice of ONANISM, or SELF-ABUSE, &c., &c.

The HOWARD ASSOCIATION, in view of the awful destruction of human life, caused by Sexual diseases, and the deceptions practised upon the unfortunate victims of these diseases by quack-seekers, have organized their Consulting Surgeon, as a CHARITABLE ACT worthy of their name, to open a Dispensary for the treatment of this class of cases in all their forms, and to give MEDICAL ADVICE GRATIS, to all who apply by letter, with a description of their condition, (age, occupation, habits of life, &c.) and in cases of extreme poverty, to FURNISH MEDICAL FEES OF CHARGE. It is needless to add that the Association commands the highest Medical skill of the age, and will furnish the most approved modern treatment.

The Directors, for review of the past, feel assured that their labors in this sphere of benevolent effort, have been of great benefit to the afflicted, especially to the young, and they have resolved to devote themselves, with renewed zeal, to this very important but much despised cause.

And Published by the Association, a Report on SYPHILIS, or Venereal Disease, a Report on the Venereal Disease of the Sexual Organs, by the Consulting Surgeon, which has been published in a sealed and sealed envelope, and by order of the Directors, Philadelphia, Pa.
